MONASTIR FALLS BEFORE SERVIANS

Strong Turkish Fortress Surrenders and 50,000 Lay Down Arms

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR PEACE

Ottoman Government Asks for Cessation of Hostilities—Greek Forces Cut Off Turkish Retreat to the South.

Belgrade, Servia, Nov. 18. — The Turkish fortress of Monastir surrendered this afternoon to the Servian troops.

Fifty thousand Turkish soldiers and three generals laid down their arms.

Monastir virtually had been surrounded by Servian troops for several days, while Greek troops coming from the south, had cut off the Turkish line of retreat to Ochrida. On Saturday, the Servian troops, after desperate fighting throughout the day and night, captured two important heights commanding the city. They then advanced through the morasses upon the interior fortifications, which surrendered today.

Monastir is the headquarters of the Sixth Turkish army corps, commanded by Fethi Pasha, but many other Turkish troops fleeing from surrounding towns, which had been captured by the Servians, concentrated there. Djavid Pasha, the commander of the Seventh Turkish army corps, went there with many of his soldiers, after the fall of Uskup to the Servians.

It was thought that the Turkish troops would be able to stand a lengthy siege in Monastir, but it is evident the army was totally disorganized and lacked provisions.

Turkey's Last Stand.

London, Nov. 18.—Monastir was the second city of importance in European Turkey. It was Turkey's stronghold in Macedonia, and by its downfall Macedonia passes completely out of Turkish hands.

What part the Greeks played in the capture has not yet been ascertained. It is known that the Greek army was marching to the assistance of the Servians and it is supposed that the Greeks were able to cut off the Turkish retreat to the south.

The Servians naturally will be elated at this victory, which outshines the capture of Saloniki, and must have a great moral effect on the future course of the war.

Another of the strange silences which have been characteristic of this war appears to have fallen over Constantinople, from which city brief dispatches have been received telling of the resumption of the Tchatalja battle and that the Sultan has made a fresh personal appeal to the European Sovereigns to intervene for the termination of the war. Quite as little may be expected to come of this appeal as of the previous attempt at mediation by the powers.

Result of Fighting at Tchatalja.

London, Nov. 18.—With cholera and typhus raging in her demoralized army and a powerful enemy hammering at the gates of the capital, Turkey must again appeal to the allies for terms.

Undoubtedly the object of the commanders in ordering the attack on the Tchatalja lines was to compel this course. It seems incredible that Bulgaria, for the mere glory of a triumphal entry into a city she does not desire possession of, wishes to take her army into disease infected zones.

Turkish reports, even the officers' dispatches of the results of the operations, have been so unreliable throughout that little attention can be paid to the statements regarding the Tchatalja battle, issued at Constantinople Sunday and Monday.

A result of the victory at Monastir will be to stiffen the Servian government in resisting Austrian pretentions. The consular troubles at Prisrend and Mitrovitza are breeding a dangerous spirit of ill feeling between Austria and Servia, which is little calculated to favor diplomatic negotiations. The newspapers of both capitals reflect this feeling.

No news has yet reached Vienna of the Austrian consul Procaska at Prisrend. The Servian government has declined to comply with Austria's request to allow an Austrian representative to go to Prisrend to make inquiries and practically ignores Austria's protests on the subject.

There is a report that Scutari has fallen before the Montenegrin attack, but this is not confirmed.

Proof that the cholera has affected the Bulgarian army comes in a report that the noted German doctor, Roth, has been summoned to Bulgarian headquarters to assist in stamping out the disease.

Appeals for Peace.

London, Nov. 18.—The Ottoman government today made a fresh appeal, this time through the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, for the cessation of hostilities, according to a dispatch received here this evening from the Turkish news agency.

Battle at Tchatalja Resumed.

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The battle was resumed this morning and continued all day. The firing was not heard in the city, owing to the gale which blew to the westward.

Correspondents were permitted to approach the lines on the Marmora side. The cannonading seemed much less in volume on Sunday, but it is believed that there were more infantry attacks.

It was impossible to ascertain whether the Bulgarians were making any progress in taking the lines, but it was certain from a survey of the several main roads that the Turks were not retreating.

A military attache of one of the great powers made the statement that the attaches were not permitted to witness much of the action, but he saw something of yesterday's military duel, in which he declared the Bulgarians fired badly. They wasted about 300 shells on a battery near him and failed to injure a single man or gun. The attache expressed the opinion that the Turks would hold the line successfully.

SIDNA ALLEN BREAKS DOWN

Leader of Outlaw [illegible]kes Stand in Own Defense [illegible]ps When Asked About [illegible] ing Wife and Children.

Library of Congress

Wytheville, Va., Nov. 18.—Sidna Allen, on trial here for the murder of Judge Thornton L. Massie, today took the witness stand in his own defense, outlining his movements from the time of the tragedy until he was captured in Des Moines. He spoke clearly and without embarrassment until he was asked if he had intended leaving his wife and children. Then the rugged mountaineer broke down and wept. He denied that such was his intention, and stated that they were after him with bloodhounds and with instructions to shoot on sight and that he intended keeping out of the way until things quieted down, when he would have returned and given himself up.

The prisoner denied that he fired at Judge Massie, stating that he was standing talking to John Moore, a stone mason, about some work, when the firing began, and that he did not fire until he saw Clerk Dexter Goad shoot at him. Then he emptied his revolver at the clerk, re-loaded it and kept up shooting after he had left the building.

During the morning Mrs. Sidna Allen was examined and stated that Floyd Allen came home with her husband the night before the shooting and that they all sat by the fire talking until bedtime. Nothing bearing on the next day's tragedy was mentioned, she declared.

C. C. Westmoreland, chairman of the board of supervisors of Carroll county, testified that a few days after the tragedy he had a conversation with Clerk Goad and that the latter said he thought the shooting was the greatest thing that could have happened because it would rid Carroll county of the Allens.

The defense also introduced the evidence of two traveling salesmen as to bills of goods they had sold Sidna Allen just previous to the tragedy, this being intended to disprove the State's contention of conspiracy.

WILSON AT BERMUDA.

President-Elect Enthusiastically Cheered as He Enters Hamilton.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 18.—President-elect Wilson and his family, on board the steamer Bermudian, arrived at Hamilton today.

Large crowds of people lined the streets and wharves, awaiting the arrival of the President-elect, and all public and private buildings were decorated with flags and bunting.

Hurstholme, the Winter residence of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, has been offered to Mr. Wilson during his stay here. The weather is charming.

The President-elect and his party landed at noon. Mr. Wilson was received by the officials of the city and was enthusiastically cheered as he passed through the streets.

In response to a hearty official welcome, Mr. Wilson said:

"As soon as I knew I had been sentenced to four years' hard labor, I thought of a rest in Bermuda. The friendship existing between the United States and Great Britain is a very happy and natural one. I hope nothing will happen during my administration to disturb the relations of the two countries."

Mr. Wilson then expressed his wish to be allowed to remain incognito.

The President-elect occupied part of the afternoon in getting his family settled in a private cottage which he has rented, overlooking the ocean. He discovered that he was short one bed, and rowed across the bay alone to obtain it.

CLEGHORN GIVES UP.

Surrenders to Justice—Declares He Had Not Been Hiding.

Ashburn, Ga., Nov. 18.—Tan Cleghorn, the young planter wanted in connection with the death of Miss Minnie Marchman, believed to have met her death as a result of taking poison, today surrendered to a justice of the peace at Amboy, near here. Cleghorn was informed there was no warrant for his arrest. He declared he had been at his plantation near Amboy and had never made any attempt to hide. He lived a short distance from the Marchmans, he said, and could have been arrested at any time if wanted.

The young man denied having anything to do with the death of Miss Marchman. He was not engaged to the young woman, he said and never had discussed marriage with her.

"She was a nice, pleasant girl," he said, "and I liked her as a friend and nothing more."

MAMMOTH SWINDLE BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Detectives Round up Monumental Chain of Get-Rich-Quick Artists

UNIQUE PLAN OF OPERATION

Advertised to Sell Stock for Promoters and Charged Enormous Sums for Investigating the Propositions.

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—With the arrests today in six cities of the men alleged by the government to constitute a monumental get-rich-quick chain of swindlers, United States secret service men declare they have brought to the surface an organization that has mulcted small corporations, inventors and promoters of $1,500,000 in the last three years. The arrests were made as the result of secret indictments returned here by the last United States grand jury. Those arrested were F. D. Minyard, at Cleveland, Ohio; George S. Hannaford, Chicago; H. B. Warren, Rochester, N. Y.; Mason G. Worth, New York; Thomas Fishwick, Boston, and A. Bruce Crane, Newark, N. J.

Indictments were returned here against five men who are alleged to have constituted one link of the chain. The five are Minyard, Hannaford, Fishwick and J. R. Long and J. G. Malcom, who are said to be in Canada. The other arrests were made on affidavits of government officials. The three indicted in Cincinnati will be returned here for trial. A Federal grand jury at Rochester, it is said, will be empanelled to investigate branches of the alleged swindle, while the grand jury at Buffalo, N. Y., will convene tomorrow to take up the case.

Much of the evidence which resulted from the indictments, it is said, was given to the grand jury by a woman, Miss Clara Kronage, formerly employed as stenographer by the firm of Minyard, Kessler & Malcom. District Attorney McPherson today held a long conference with Miss Kronage, and it was said she would go to Rochester tomorrow to testify before the grand jury there.

The plan of operation, it is charged in the indictments, was for members of the concern to advertise their ability to sell stocks for promoters and inventors. Those who answered the advertisements were told that the stock could not be sold at its true value unless guaranteed by a reliable guaranty company. The customer then was recommended, it is charged, to George S. Hannaford, who conducted the Chicago Debenture Company.

Hannaford, the indictment states, would guarantee the stock, charging 1 per cent. of its par value. The promoter then would be informed that a purchaser for the entire issue had been found providing the proposition was found worthy. A charge rating as high as one-third, or sometimes 45 per cent. of the par value of the stock, would be made for this investigation. Afterwards the promoter was informed that his proposition had proved to be no good and was dropped.

The indictment charges that the proceeds of the investigations were divided among members of the brokerage concerns and the debenture companies. No effort was made to sell any stock, it declares and only a perfunctory investigation made of the merits of the different enterprises.

The individuals and corporations named in the indictments here as having been victims of the brokers includes the Bitter Root Valley Fruit & Products Company; the Folding Fibre Box Company; the Goldfield River Bend Mining & Milling Company; the Tucson Consolidated Mining Company; the Derbyshire Manufacturing Company; the United Mine & Smelting Company; the Burrell Manufacuring Company, Bradley, Ill.; W. H. Moorey, Rockford, Ill., and J. H. Wissow, Milwaukee, Wis.

Numerous letters, advising prospective customers to communicate with the Chicago Debenture Company, or relating to the sale of stocks, were attached to the indictments as evidence.

The sending through the mails to H. E. Wissow, of Milwaukee, a pamphlet called "Investment Versus Speculation" was made the basis of one count in the indictments.

Warren is president of the American Redemption Company at Rochester and Worth was charged with complicity in a scheme to defraud in connection with the Rochester concern. Government officials declare that they have evidence showing these and other concerns all were involved in one chain.

The firm of Minyard, Kessler & Malcom, whose activities here are said to have resulted in the government investigation, went out of business last April and its members all left the city. During its activities the firm's name was changed several times, the signs on the office changing from J. G. Minyard & Company, to Minyard, Kessler & Company, then to Malcolm & Kessler Company and then to Minyard, Kessler & Malcom.

DID POLICE SHARE THE SWAG?

Testimony Will be Offered Before Curran Committee to Show That New York Police Shared in Hauls of Gondorfs.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, Nov. 18.—The next session of the Curran committee of the Board of Aldermen is expected to be enlivened by testimony, which, according to some members of the committee, will tend to show collusion between the wire tappers who have been so active of late, and the police. It is reported that at least one of the members of the Charles Gondorf crowd, seven of whom are now under arrest charged with the fleecing of Pittsburg, Norfolk and Wilmington, N. C., citizens, has offered to testify before the Curran committee and give his first hand knowledge of police methods and graft to the investigators. A man in close touch with the situation said today that the Gondorf gang had paid between 15 and 25 per cent. of every haul to the police. The money alleged to have been secured from the North Carolinians is said to have been split with the officials, a large portion of the money having been paid to a prominent official of the detective bureau.

ATTORNEYS SAY LAST WORD.

Arguments Concluded in Gunmen's Case—Judge's Charge Today.

New York, Nov. 18.—The last word for and against the four gunmen on trial for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was said today when counsel made their appeals to the jury for conviction and acquittal, respectively.

Tomorrow their fate will be delivered into the hands of the jury, probably in the afternoon, as it is expected that Justice Goff will take up all of the morning session in charging the jurors as to the law and the evidence.

The four defendants, "Gyp the Blood", "Lefty Louie", "Dago Frank" and "Whitey" Lewis, heard themselves characterized by Assistant District Attorney Moss as "the hands which held the instruments of death —the hands of the body of which Rose, Webber and Vallon were the brains, and Lieut. Charles Becker the witness." He referred to them as the "battery of gunmen."

He declared that the witnesses who identified them showed "the courage of soldiers marching to the cannon's mouth." He beseeched the jurors "not to be afraid of bullets" in considering their verdict.

By their attorney, Charles C. F. Wahle, the defendants were pictured as men who had been criminals, but who were innocent of this crime—the victims of the testimony of the "men who really killed Rosenthal—Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps."

"Give me these boys and I will make men of them," said Mr. Wahle.

"Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" listened to the eloquence of the two lawyers with stolid faces. Their fellow defendants "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" were visibly affected.

TO SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE.

Prof. Davenport Allows Quart of Blood to be Transfused.

Americus, Ga., Nov. 18.—In an effort to save the life of his mother, who is seriously ill, Prof. Harold Davenport, of the University of Georgia, today had more than a quart of blood from his veins transfused into the veins of his mother. Mrs. Davenport is the wife of Gen. H. T. Davenport, commander of the United Confederate Veterans of Georgia.

DECIDES AGAINST "BATH TUB TRUST"

The U. S. Supreme Court Holds that "License Agreements" are Illegal

AN EPOCH-MAKING DECISION

Court Lays Down Principle That There Can Be No Monopoly In Unpatented Product of a Patented Machine — Results

Washington, Nov. 18.—In an epoch-making decision today in the so-called "Bath Tub Trust case," the Supreme Court of the United States laid down the broad principle that there can be no monopoly in the unpatented product of a patented machine, without violating the Sherman anti-trust law. Justice McKenna delivered the unanimous opinion of the court.

In accordance with this doctrine, the court struck down as illegal the "license agreements" by which manufacturers of 85 per cent of the sanitary enamelled iron in the United States were bound together in combination. The license agreements allows the manufacturers to use a patented dredger, but only on condition that they abide by an attached price list; would not sell to jobbers who bought from independents; would sell in certain territory and would sell "seconds."

Officials of the Department of Justice were highly elated over the decision, which it is claimed, will have an important bearing upon several investigations now under way by Attorney General Wickersham, as well as anti-trust suits already filed against the so-called "Moving Picture Trust" and the United Shoe Machinery Manufacturing Company.

The decision is considered vital because of the government claim that the patent license agreement plan was being adopted by many concerns, as a result of the judicial ban upon the "pure trust" plan, as exemplified in the case of the Standard Oil Company, of Ohio; the "holding company" plan, as declared invalid in the Northern Securities case and the combination of a holding company and a manufacturing company, as shown in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

Justice McKenna in his opinion declared that the effect of the agreements was to convert the independent and competitive companies into a combination subject to rules and regulations.

"The trade was practically controlled from 'producer to consumer,'" said he, "and the potency scheme was established by the co-operation of 85 per cent of the manufacturers, and their fidelity to it was secured not only by trade advantages, but by what was practically a pecuniary penalty, not inaptly termed in the argument 'cash ball.'"

Today's decision sustains the decree of United States District Court for Maryland, abrogating the "license agreements," and paves the way for the re-trial of the criminal suit against the "Bath Tug Trust," the first trial of which, at Detroit, several months ago, resulted in a disagreement of the jury. Attorney General Wickersham postponed the re-trial until the issues in the civil suit were decided by the Supreme Court.

Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the Attorney General, who prosecuted the case and argued it in the Supreme Court, said tonight:

"On the argument in the Supreme Court the main reliance of the defendants was the decisions in 'Dick vs. Henry,' called the mimeograph case, rendered by the Supreme Court last March. There it was held that the owner of a patent on a mimeograph may compel the purchaser of the patented mimeograph to buy from him, the patentee, all paper and ink which was to be used on the mimeograph, although, of course, the paper and ink are not covered by the patent.

"The decision of today refuses to exceed the doctrine of the Dick case to the unpatented product of a patented machine. The defendants in the Bath Tub case, owning patents on machines used in the manufacture of enamelled war, attempted to fix prices and destroy competition in commerce in the unpatented ware.

"The economic effect of the prosecution by Attorney General Wickersham is interesting. The combination commenced operation in June, 1910. At once complaints poured into the Department of Justice. The Attorney General commenced proceedings July, 1910. Since the combination was broken up, the prices of the product have fallen from 25 to 40 per cent, yet today nearly all of the manufacturers engaged in the business are running their factories over time and they are all making money at the reduced prices prevailing in this period of competition."

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 18.—The erecting plant of the American Car & Foundry Company was burned late today, causing a loss estimated at $100,000. The bursting of an oil main leading to a riveting furnace caused the flames to spread rapidly. The firemen were injured seriously by falling walls.

MAY CHANGE ORGANIZATION

American Federation of Labor Will Discuss Proposal to Adopt Industrial Unionism Today—Report on Resolution

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The question whether the American Federation of Labor is to adopt industrial unionism in place of its present policy of recognizing, except in certain instances the autonomy of trade or craft organizations, will be discussed tomorrow before the convention of that organization. Near the close of this afternoon's meeting the committee on education reported on a resolution for the adoption of industrial unionism. A majority of the committee voted for its rejection and a minority report favored industrial unionism where practicable, and where not practicable federation of trade unions for unified action.

The resolution was introduced by John Mitchell, Duncan McDonald, John P. White, Frank J. Hayes, William Green and J. H. Walker, of the United Mine Workers of America, and is as follows:

"Whereas, the lines are being more closely drawn between capital and labor, and

"Whereas, the capitalists of the country have organized the National Manufacturers' Association and other large employers' organizations, compact, cohesive bodies, having for their purpose the destruction of the trades union movement and realizing that in unity there is strength, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that in order to combat these compact and powerful organizations of employers of labor, this convention adopts and endorses the plan of organization by industries instead of by crafts, which often divides the forces of labor and that the American Federation of Labor be instructed to use every effort to bring this about and that they visit the different labor conventions and use their influence to mould sentiment along these lines."

The majority of the committee desired to send as a substitute of the resolution the autonomy declaring for the Scranton convention in 1901, which favored retention of the policy of recognizing and maintaining craft or trade autonomy insofar as it was compatible with modern organization of industry. By special order discussion of the resolution was set for tomorrow, directly following the discussion of the Sherman anti-trust law on the labor movement.

An hour of the afternoon session was given over to an address by Lewis T. Bryant, commissioner of labor of New Jersey, on the protection of factory employes from accident and fire.

Resolutions adopted at the afternoon session condemned the "private detectives" said to be used to break strikes in West Virginia; favored the development of State universities along the Wisconsin extension plan; commended the movement for wider use of school buildings and urged their use for labor meetings; commended the work of the National Conservation Congress, and approved the participation by American Federation of Labor officers in its proceedings.

Just before the close of the afternoon session President Gompers read a clipping from a newspaper in which he was quoted as expressing satisfaction at the recent defeat for re-election of Victor Bergen, the Milwaukee Socialist Congressman, and said:

"The report is absolutely untrue. I have not directly nor indirectly said or intimated that I found satisfaction in the defeat of Mr. Bergen."

CALIFORNIA ELECTION CASE.

Test Made in Los Angeles Court—Judge Postpones Hearing.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 18.—The first test in court of the Presidential vote in Los Angeles county, upon the outcome of which hinges the political complexion of California's delegation to the electoral college, came up here today in mandamus proceedings.

The issue was the vote in 35 precincts where Roosevelt electors received a plurality of more than 1,000 votes, which the Democrats declare should be thrown out because the board of supervisors opened the sealed envelopes containing the tally sheets and corrected them prior to the day set by law for the official canvass.

The supervisors do not deny that the envelopes were opened and corrections made, but they assert that the returns proper were not tampered with.

While the Democrats won one point —that of jurisdiction—Justice Allen postponed the case until Wednesday.

TROUBLE WITH RUSSIA.

Mongolians Would Repudiate Convention Recently Signed.

London, Nov. 18.—Trouble has arisen over the recent convention signed by Russia and Mongolia, by which Russia recognizes and guarantees the independence of Mongolia.

A meeting of 110 Mongol princes and chieftains yesterday in Pekin, according to a dispatch to The Daily Telegraph, resulted in the expressed desire to repudiate entirely the convention signed by Russia and Mongolia at Urga, and resolved to ask President Yuan Shi Kai to afford military protection to those Mongolians willing to join the Chinese Republic.

The advisory counsel of the President endorsed the resolution, and 45,000 troops were placed under orders to proceed to the Mongolian frontier. A number of battalions have left by train for the city of Kalgan, half of which is Mongolian and half Chinese.

DISASTROUS DUEL IN A BRONX CAFE

Man and Woman Killed and Three Pursuing Detectives Fatally Wounded

TWO OTHERS SERIOUSLY HURT

Man and Woman Were Being Trailed In Connection With a Diamond Robbery—Proprietor of Cafe And Waiter Shot

New York, Nov. 18.—A man and a woman being trailed by detectives in connection with a diamond robbery were shot and killed in a cafe in the Bronx tonight; a central office detective and two private detectives were shot and fatally wounded and the proprietor of the cafe and a waiter were seriously injured.

The man and woman killed had registered at the Elsemere Hotel, a small house connected with the cafe, as "Vogel and wife, Lottie." Vogel's first name was illegible.

The pair had arrived at the hotel, situated at Cortland avenue and 161 street by taxicab during the evening bringing two trunks.

Vogel and his wife opened the revolver battle as soon as the detectives told them they were wanted. Central Office Detective Martin Fay, 36 years old, who led two detectives in the case, received a bullet in the abdomen. Louis Mondschein, the proprietor of the cafe, received a similar wound; William Butler, the bar tender, was shot in the hip and back and Gerard Luigi and John Allen, private detectives, were struck in the head and leg, respectively.

The shooting occurred as the two detectives, assisted by the proprietor and bar tender, were forcing the door of a room which the Vogel couple occupied. Vogel was armed with an automatic revolver containing 11 cartridges, which he let go one after another and his attack was reinforced by shots from an ordinary revolver in the hands of the woman.

Allen plunged into the room and was the first to expose himself to the fire. He fell probably mortally wounded, across the bed in the room, but it is believed that he fired the shots which killed both the man and woman before he lost consciousness.

STRIKE SITUATION CRITICAL

Armed Miners March On Paint Creek To Clean It Up

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Four additional companies of State militia are being rushed tonight into the coal strike district of West Virginia to reinforce four companies now in the field. Armed miners are marching toward Paint Creek to "clean it up." Militiamen now in the field have been ordered to halt the miners and shoot to kill if necessary. Miners shot up two small villages today, but there were no fatalities.

Conditions throughout the strike zone, which was placed under martial law last Friday, are admittedly critical. Governor Glasscock's action in rushing more State troops to the troubled district followed the persistent threatening attitude of miners.

The military authorities were notified tonight that 100 armed miners were marching from Boomer, 8 miles from Paint Creek, to assist in "cleaning up the creek, including the militia."

A company of militia has been sent out to meet them. Instructions were given the militia to stop any armed body of men and if there was any hesitancy to shoot.

Strikers today fired many volleys into the villages of Standard and Wacoma on Paint Creek. The houses were deserted, however, and no one was injured. A company of soldiers was hurried to the scene and arrived tonight. The strikers had fled into the hills and had litle difficulty in making their escape.

Engineer Blankenship, of a special train drawing several cars of strike-breakers, received a flesh wound when a volley was fired on his train near Eskdale this afternoon. A train carrying a company of militia proceeding immediately behind was not molested.

"DYNAMITE CONSPIRACY" TRIAL.

Pieces of Infernal Machines Identified by Witnesses Yesterday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 18.—Blackened pieces of infernal machines which figured in the explosion at Los Angeles, Cal., on October 1, 1910, when 21 persons were killed in the wreck of the Times building, were identified at the "dyanmite conspiracy" trial today.

Events involving the handling of the nitro-glycerine with which James B. McNamara caused the explosion were first described by witnesses.

Oscar Lawter, special assistant to the attorney general, and Arthur L. Veitch, who gathered evidence in the dynamiting cases in California, gave much testimony as to their activities preceding the McNamara trial in Los Angeles.

Havana, Nov. 18.—The Philadelphia baseball team of the American League, defeated Havana today by a score of 10 to 5.

CONFERENCE AT HIGH POINT

Western North Carolina Methodists Meet This Week

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 18.—A large body of Greensboro Methodists are preparing to attend the sessions of the conference at High Point beginning Wednesday, the splendid train schedules and macadam highway between the two cities of Guilford making it almost the same as though the conference were gathering in this city. The reports from the various Methodist churches—West Market Street, Spring Garden, Proximity, Centenary and Pomona—will all show up well for the past year, a marked growth having been felt by each congregation.

There is genuine regret here in all quarters over the fact that Rev. E. K. McLorty has served his four-year term as pastor of he West Market Street church and that at this conference he must be assigned to some other field. In this church yesterday, the largest of the city, Mr. McLarty preached to two audiences which taxed the capacity. He choose as his themes at each service a talk on faith and steadfastness rather than a review of his pastorate and references which might touch the sentimental emotions. Mr. McLarty as pastor, has won the love and esteem of his flock and as a citizen he has won the respect and regard of the people generally. He is a forceful preacher, sound in wisdom and doctrine and justly regarded as one of the great ministers of the Western North Carolina Conference.

For the opening session tomorrow afternoon of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference a number of ministers and lay deacons are gathering here. The sessions will be held in the splendid Christian church building here, with the pastor, Rev. H. E. Rountree, as host. The conference consists of 21 churches north of the Southern Railway from here to Raleigh, 16 pastors representing a membership of 3,618. This membership will be represented by 61 lay delegates.

Rev. J. W. Holt, of Burlington, is president of the conference, and Prof. W. P. Lawrence, of Elon College, secretary. The programme prepared, aside from the regular business and routine work includes addresses by President Harper, of Elon; Rev. J. O. Atkinson, editor of the church publications; Rev. W. W. Staley, of Suffolk, Va., and Prof Lawrence. Rev. Mr. Rountree will deliver the address of welcome when the conference convenes at 2 o'clock tomorrow and President Harper, of Elon College, will make the response.

CHURCH WORKERS IN KINSTON.

Grant K. Lewis and Mr. Mohorter Speak—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 18.—Two church workers of National repute addressed the congregations at the Christian church here yesterday morning and night. These were Grant K. Lewis, of Cincinnati, secretary of the American Christian Missionary Society, and J. H. Mohorter, secretary of the National Benevolent Association. Mr. Lewis, who spoke in the morning, is one of the leading figures in his church in the country. Both he and Mr. Mohorter will attend the State Christian Convention at Farmville next week, and spent Sunday here as the guests of Mr. Smith, the local pastor. Mr. Mohorter, who is from St. Louis, gave an illustrated lecture at night on the orphanage work of the church.

The Woodmen of the World lodge at Strabane celebrated the second anniversary of its installation Friday night, with a barbecue supper and a social programme. Eight members of the Kinston lodge, who participated in the organization of the camp on November 14th, 1910, were guests of honor on this occasion. The membership of the Strabane lodge is now large, and it is one of the healthiest and most enthusiastic branches of the order in this section.

The jury found for the plaintiff in Jenkins vs. the Kinston-Carolina Railroad, a case which had attracted much attention in civil court here, rendering a judgment for $750. In a former trial of this case, the plaintiff received judgment for $300. Jenkins was a member of a train crew of the railroad company hauling logs, and was killed because of a defective coupling, being mashed to death between cars.

HOGS AS SANITARIANS

When They Are Valuable In Towns, According to Dr. C. W. Stiles

A few days ago, Dr. C. W. Stiles, of the Marine Hospital here in Wilmington, was giving an address on sanitation before a public meeting in one of the sister towns in this State. When he had finished, the audience put a number of questions to him. Unbeknown to him the people of the town were divided into two camps in regard to the question as to whether they should follow Wilmington's example in moving the hogs out of town. A citizen who was friendly to the hogs arose and asked:

"Doctor, do you consider it is unhealthy to keep hogs in town?"

The doctor replied:

"That depends entirely upon circumstances. In towns where the people are dirtier than hogs, it is a good plan to keep hogs around to clean up after the people, but just as soon as the people become cleaner than hogs, it is best to move the swine out of town!"

DEFENSE RESTS CASE

Witness Swears Policemen Shot Before Lopizzo Woman Fell

Salem, Mass., Nov. 18.—Resting its case in the trial of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso, for the Anna Lopizzo murder in a Lawrence textile strike riot, the defense late today produced a witness who swore he saw two police officers discharge their revolvers just before the Lopizzo woman fell.

The testimony came after Arturo Giovannitti, last of the accused to take the witness stand, had told of his connection with the Lawrence struggle and had averred he never urged the strikers to commit an act of violence.

Tomorrow the commonwealth will call a few witnesses in rebuttal, but it is expected that arguments will be reached before the end of the day, and it is probable that the case will go to the jury on Thursday at the latest.

MRS. J. H. TAYLOR PASSES

Most Estimable Woman Died Yesterday After Long Illness

Many friends were shocked and saddened yesterday morning to learn of the death of Mrs. James H. Taylor, Sr., which occurred at 7 A. M., at the family residence, No. 619 Grace street. Mrs. Taylor had been in failing health for five or six years and her death did not come altogether unexpected, but the realization of her passing came as a great shock to her loved ones and friends.

Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of the late Joseph and Nancy McLaurin and was born October 22nd, 1851, making her, therefore, in the 62nd year of her age. She was a member of the First Baptist church and was a most estimable Christian woman. She will be greatly missed in the home, the church and community.

Surviving are her husband, four sons and two daughters, these being Messrs. James H. Taylor, Jr., W. R. Taylor, Thomas P. Taylor, Phillip A. Taylor; Mrs. C. D. Weeks and Miss Mary Bell Taylor. There also survive two sisters, Mrs. Walter Coney, of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Katie B. McLaurin, and one brother, Mr. L. W. McLaurin, of Wilmington. The bereaved have the tenderest sympathy of a great many friends in their sorrow. Mrs. Coney and daughter were expected to arrive on the late train last night. Mrs. A. H. Slocumb, a sister of Mr. Taylor, was also expected last night from Fayetteville.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the First Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

MADE MAGNIFICENT TALK.

Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt Spoke at the Boys' Brigade Last Night.

Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, made a talk at the Boys' Brigade armory last night that is considered one of the best and most profitable of a series delivered there this Fall by different speakers. Dr. Nesbitt spoke wholly of local health and sanitary conditions and the changes that have been wrought during the present city administration. He is a fine speaker, a deep thinker and is always heard with pleasure and profit. Last night was no exception to the rule. He was followed closely by all within the sound of his voice as he told of the health and sanitary conditions as they were found by the present administration, recounted the many difficulties that were met and surmounted in the effort to reduce the rather high death rate and improve sanitary conditions and his auditors heard with particular pleasure of the good effects already visible of the efforts of the department. The death rate has been considerably decreased and sanitary conditions have improved wonderfully. Still further progress in this direction will be noticeable when the extensions to the sewerage system have been completed and the surface closets forever banished.

The talk of Dr. Nesbitt, characterized by one present as magnificent, was of the kind that instructs as well as enlightens and those present feel that they could not have spent their evening more profitably. At the close of the talk a number of questions were asked Dr. Nesbitt, showing the keen interest in the subject by those in attendance.

W. J. BRYAN AT RALEIGH.

Speaks at Auditorium, But Does Not Touch on Politics.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—In his address here tonight Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan made only slight reference to matters political. He was introduced by Hon. Josephus Daniels.

Mr. Bryan said while explaining his selection of the theme, "The Making of a Man," that had he preferred to discuss politics in any of its phases, the fact was that he is just now altogether "too full for utterance" in the great pleasure he feels over the sweeping Democratic victory. His lecture was greatly enjoyed by an audience that well nigh filled the auditorium. He and Mrs. Bryan spent the day here, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Josephus Daniels. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels gave a luncheon in their honor for which the special guests were Chief Justice Walter Clark and Associate Justices Platt D. Walker, George W. Brown, W. A. Hoke, W. R. Allen, President Albert Cox, of the Chamber of Commerce, J. W. Bailey, ex-Judge J. Crawford Biggs, Hon. E. J. Justice, of Greensboro and Hon. Francis D. Winston, of Bertie.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—Twenty-five hundred people paid 50 cents each to hear William J. Bryan speak tonight in a charitable cause and though his address was not on political topics, the few brief references he made to the victory of the Democrats after so many defeats were droll in the extreme. Mr. Bryan was given an ovation, following his introduction by North Carolina National Committeeman Josephus Daniels. Mr. Bryan arrived in Raleigh early this morning and was the guest while here of Mr. Daniels, a warm personal friend. He will leave at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning for Savannah. He is accompanied by Mrs. Bryan.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Chief of Police Gilson, of Lackawanna, who came here this afternoon to attempt to identify George H. Stearns, who was arrested here today as the murderer of Joseph Josephs, says Stearns is not the man. The prisoner was arrested on a charge of maltreating a Rochester boy, and the police suspected a connection with the Lackamanna case.

PORTO RICO'S NEW WONDER.

From far away Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed will vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barceloneta, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles it has no equal. A trial will convince you of its merit. 50c and $1.00. ALLENS MUST DIE FRIDAY

Supreme Court Refuses to Grant Outlaws a New Trial

Richmond, Va., Nov. 18.—A new trial today was refused for Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen, by the Supreme Court of Virginia. The men are condemned to die in the electric chair next Friday for the murder of the officers of the Carroll county court at Hillsville, March 14th.

Floyd Allen was convicted May 17th, specifically for the killing of Commonwealth Attorney William M. Foster. Claude Allen, tried on the charge of killing Judge Thornton L. Massie, was convicted and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. A second trial on an indictment for the killing of Attorney Foster resulted in a verdict of murder in the first degree on July 13th. It is said that Governor Mann will not interfere with the executive sentence imposed by the courts. The appeal to the Supreme Court for new trials decided adversely today had been pending for some time, but Virginia officials have proceeded with arrangements for the execution of the men, believing that no clemency would be shown.

The Hillsville Court House shooting in March, when the Allen clan resented the conviction of Floyd Allen on a minor charge by killing five persons in the court room, is still holding attention in Virginia because of the trial of Sidna Allen, the clan leader, now under way at Wytheville.

It is believed, however, that the Governor will grant a respite for two weeks. He will make known his decision in a statement to the public within a day or two.

HAVE JOSEPH'S MURDERER

Police Solve Identity of Man Who Kills Boys

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Confident that they have established the identity of the man who, in a series of post cards and letters, confessed to the murder of Joseph Josephs, the 1-year-old Lacawanna boy, Michael Kruck, the New York newsboy, and other similar crimes, the police of Lacawanna and Buffalo tomorrow will lay their evidence before the grand jury and ask for an indictment.

Meanwhile messages giving the man's name and description have been sent broadcast through the Eastern States. The last of the series of post cards received from the murderer was mailed from Boston Saturday morning, the day the body was found. The news that the body had been recovered, the police think, caused the man to flee from that city, but they are confident he will be captured within a day or two.

The principal evidence in the hands of the police, it is said, is a letter written under a New York date and mailed at Whiting, N. J., February 1st, 1912.

The handwriting on this letter tallies so closely with that of the post cards that it will be placed before the grand jury without expert testimony to support it.

The funeral of the Josephs boy was held at Lacawanna today. It was attended by hundreds of school children, and business in the town was practically suspended in the hour of the funeral.

STOLE COW AND CALF

Prominent Greensboro Republican Suffers Loss of His "Dairy"

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 18.—While the family of H. L. Worth was at church yesterday morning some one cut a hole through a barbed-wire fence and led off a cow and calf, the boldness of the theft being increased by the fact that it was not only daylight but that the community is a thickly settled one. Despite this fact, however, no neighbor could give the police a clue and up to this morning both cow and calf were still missing. A rather peculiar incident in connection with the theft is that on the preceding Sunday while the family was at church the house was entered and dairy articles, butter and milk and some other few kitchen accessories taken. Evidently liking the sample, the thief came back on the following Sunday for the cow and calf. Mr. Worth was former Republican county chairman and during the last campaign was prominent in Bull Moose circles.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN RALEIGH

White Man Fatally Injured Selecting Casket—Murder In "Blind Tiger" —Legislation Planned In 1913—Other Notes

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, Nov. 18.—While in the Strickland undertaking establishment here today, selecting a casket for his wife who had just died at Rex Hospital, George Newton, an aged employe of the city, was caught under a falling casket show case and fatally injured.

His legs were badly broken, several ribs broken, his chest crushed in and there were internal injuries that make recovery impossible. He is 70 years old. A friend who accompanied Newton and the undertaker, E. M. Gough, had narrow escapes from serious injury. It was a wall case and doors were let down to display the caskets. Four or five were let down and Undertaker Gough claims that Newton leaned heavily on the lower casket. The case pulled away from the wall with the fatal result.

Further investigation into the horrible murder of Paul A. High Sunday, in a "blind tiger" kept by Logan Greene, colored, developes the fact that High came from Wilson county a few months ago instead of from Durham. He is known to have had several bills in his pocket Saturday night when his brother, Alonzo, was with him while buying a pint of whiskey from Logan Greene. Thereafter Paul went with his brother home but would not remain all night. He was drinking. No further arrests are made and Logan Greene insists on his story of finding High robbing his trunk and knocking him down with an iron rod before calling for help. High was employed in the lumber plant of Oldham and Monie.

Thirteenth Judicial District appeals will be called in the North Carolina Supreme Court Tuesday morning in the following order: Rowe vs. Campbell; Cook vs. Furniture Co.; Lenoir Drug Co., vs. Town of Lenoir; in re will of Polly Garland, deceased; Hartsoe vs. Southern Railway Co.; Crouch vs. Crouch; Ervin vs. First National Bank of Lenoir; Williams vs. First National Bank of Lenoir; Holder vs. Lumber Co.; Sipe vs. Herman. At foot of docket, State Board of Education vs. Remick.

It is understood that there are already in process of preparation a number of bills to be introduced in the approaching Legislature and campaigns being planned for their enactment into law that will give the 1913 session a distinctly "progressive" atmosphere, at least as to measures proposed if not bills actually passed. A distinct advance in anti-trust legislation is being hinted at, a complete revision of the State election law, a general primary law for all parties, blanket commission form of government and initiative and referendum laws for cities to be optionally adopted, the application of the Torrens system of land titles and a variety of other departures. Indications are that Hon. E. J. Justice, former speaker, who is returned from Guilford, will espouse a considerable amount of progressive legislation and that his course in the Legislature will have a specific bearing on the United States Senatorship contest that will be on two years hence, when Senator Overman's term expires and he will be standing for re-nomination and election. It is believed that Mr. Justice will be in the race and that legislation he undertakes or accomplishes will be factors in that contest. It is understood that he will not consider the speakership of the House this time at all, preferring to lead on the floor.

Coroner's Inquest.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—The coroner's jury which inspected the body of Paul A. High, who was badly beaten over the head with an iron bar wrapped in a kerosene saturated blanket and then set on fire, refused this afternoon to fix the responsibility for the man's death on Logan Greene, a negro held by the police. The jury will investigate further tomorrow. The negro admits having beaten High with an iron bar, but declared the young man was trying to rob him. He says he knows of the kerosene soaked blanket.

TAFT FINAL ARBITER.

Will Construe Law Regulating Admission of Shipbuilding Material.

Washington, Nov. 18.—President Taft will be the final arbiter in construing the law passed at the last session of Congress admitting shipbuilding material, machinery and equipment to the United States free of duty. Because of the wide difference of opinion as to the actual meaning of the law, Secretary MacVeagh will submit the proposed regulations of the Treasury Department, interpreting the law to the President for approval. Although the law was enacted for the benefit of the shipbuilding interests of the United States, Assistant Secretary Curtis, of the Treasury Department, at a hearing today, received vigorous protests from representatives of shipbuilding companies against a liberal interpretation of the new statute.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Philip M. Henry, of Louisville, Ky., a Freshman at Georgetown University, was killed tonight while playing pranks on his fellow students. He was climbing on a narrow ledge of the building, peering in windows when he slipped and fell. His neck was broken.

WHITEVILLE AFFAIRS.

Rev. Mr. Noe Preaches—Fine Yield of Cotton—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Nov. 18.—Rev. Thomas P. Noe, an Episcopal minister of Wilmington, preached a most interesting and instructive sermon in the school auditorium here Sunday night. A movement is on foot to build an Episcopal church here, and the lot has already been purchased. It is hoped at an early date to begin work on a church building.

Mr. Dan Hester, who has been with Powell & Powell for the last few months, has accepted a position with the Council Tool Co., at Wananish, and left today to take up his duties. His family will continue to reside in Whiteville in order to have the advantages of our excellent schools.

Whiteville is not one whit behind her sister towns when it comes to automobiles. The latest to purchase automobiles are Mr. D. A. Maultsby, cashier of the Bank of Whiteville, and Mr. W. T. Aycock, general manager of the Whiteville Lumber Co., who have each bought a 1913 Cadillac.

Mr. A. C. Oliver, who owns and operates a model farm just north of town, states that he has two acres of cotton from which he has already picked 6,000 pounds of seed cotton. This is a yield of two bales per acre, and so far as we can learn beats any record that has heretofore been made in Columbus county. Mr. Oliver is one of the most progressive farmers to be found anywhere, and says that if it had not been for the dry weather he would have done even better than this. As it is, he will average a bale to the acre on his whole farm.

Mr. William H. Baxley, who recently removed to Jacksonville, Fla., to take the State management of a prominent life insurance company, has decided to come back to Whiteville, to accept his old position as district manager of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. He says that after all, there is no place that can quite equal the old North State.

Miss Minnie Cotton, who recently completed a business course at Columbia, S. C., has accepted a position as stenographer for the Whiteville Lumber Co.

Col. David J. Lewis went to Clarkton Saturday to conduct a sale for one of his clients. On his way back he ran into several coveys of birds. He happened to have his gun along, and the result was that he killed enough of the feathered tribe to have a regular bird dinner Sunday.

The young folks of the town are busy getting ready for a play, entitled "The Kentucky Belle", which will be given in the school auditorium on Thangskiving night.

Rev. F. T. Wooten, county superintendent of education, was in town Saturday. He states that practically all the schools are now in session, and that the outlook for a successful school year is very bright.

FISHERIES CONVENTION.

State Association Will Meet in Washington, N. C., in December.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 18.—A very important convention to North Carolina will be held at Washington, N. C., on Wednesday, December 4th, in the interest of the fishing industry of the State. This convention is called by the North Carolina Fisheries Association in connection with its annual meeting. One of the main features of the convention will be recommendations to the General Assembly of 1913 in regard to fish legislation. It is hoped that all fishermen and oystermen who are interested in the development and perpetuation of the fishing industries of the State as well as all other citizens of the State who would like to see the conservation of this great natural resource, will make it a point to attend, or at least have some representative from his section to attend the convention and take part in its deliberations.

The first session will begin at 10:45 Wednesday morning on the arrival of the trains from Raleigh, Newbern and the south.

Merchants Encourage the Growers—Debate at State Normal.

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 18.—In the carrying out of efforts to expand and exploit the local tobacco and country grain and produce market the merchants of the city have just announced the names of farmers in this and adjoining counties to whom prizes will be awarded because of special sales made during the month of October. More than 50 farmers will receive honors of a substantial nature. The plan adopted by the merchants was to give monthly prizes and also general prizes at the end of the season, all being supplied from a fund of $2,000 contributed by the merchants and business men of the city. The prizes range in value from $2.50 to $150 and are distributed upon the basis of quality of tobacco and other farm crops, weight sold during month and season, price for best product and also average price for season, amount during season, distance loads are brought in order to reach this market and other requirements along similar lines. There are, too, some special prizes, a handsome coat suit to the mother of the best boy tobacco grower, something for the wife of another honor farmer and something for the mother of the largest number of men and boys who offer a crop produced by their own labor on the market.

Whether or not the Governor of North Carolina should be given the veto power under the same conditions as the President of the United States is to be the subject of the annual inter-society debate at the State Normal and Industrial College on Thanksgiving night. The debaters for the Adelphian Society are Miss Robinson, of Fayetteville, and Miss Crisp, of Farmville, they upholding the negative; for the Cornelian Society Miss Corinna Mial, of Raleigh, and Miss Willie M. Stratford, of Concord, will defend the affirmative. The president of the debate will be Miss Mildred Rankin, of Gastonia, and Miss Eleanor Morgan, of Goldsboro, will act as secretary.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The Supreme Court today took a recess until December 2nd.

Tuesday, November 19, 1912.

Reform depends altogether on its form. The election of a re-former is not by any means a guarantee of reform.

It is said that so many Europeans want to see the Panama Canal that 50,000 tickets for Pacific coast ports have been sold by the steamship companies.

Democratic and Republican papers generally approve the decision of Woodrow Wilson to call an extra session of Congress as early after April 15th, as possible.

Since Constantinople is reeking with cholera, the Balkan allies doubtless will be satisfied to camp on the outside and let the pestilence have only one army to attack.

After the 4th of March the movement of the Southern hosts on Washington will mean only the good of the National capital. It will help to the hotels and boarding houses.

President Wilson seems to be an accurate judge of public sentiment. He can decide big questions off hand and take a steamer for Bermuda without waiting to hear from his constituents.

The King of little Montenegro was mighty quick to inform the Austrian monarch that his ultimatum was "null and non-existent". As they would say in Virginia, the Austrian ultimatum was not worth a hill of beans.

Kansas was carried for equal suffrage for women, and our Kansas sisters were so jubilant that they made a bonfire of their hats. We'll bet it was their campaign hats and not their new Parisian creations bought at the Fall openings.

With a Republican Governor elected in Kansas by only fifty-three votes, and Wilson and Roosevelt running fifty votes or so apart in California, it is not as clear as it might be that "the people" are all of one mind, and all for "me and my policies," as T. R. remarked.—Chester (Pa.) Republican.

We are forced to pay two prices for our clothing that American workmen may receive good wages, yet the material is manufactured in Massachusetts by Italians and French Canadians and put together largely in the sweat shops of New York by foreigners who receive the foreign wage scale. —Richmond Journal.

We used to admire "a gentleman of the old school," but apt as not those who imagine they are progressives regard him as a reactionary or a mossback. It will take a progressive about 25 years experience to become a gentleman of the old school. A National politician who thinks he is the progressive of all progressives resently had the Republic's hair standing on end. He became a progressive in order to get a third term. A certain variety of progressivity is only a password used by the overly ambitious to work their way into the inner circle.

Before the discussion about a probable extra session of Congress had time to warm up good, Woodrow Wilson was quick to give it out that he would call the new Congress in session April 15th to begin the work of tariff revision. The Star long ago told you that it would not take Wilson but about two minutes and a half to let the country know how he stands on any question. He knows "right now" what he wants to do and is going to to. Wilson will be one President who will neither trim nor hesitate. He is able, mature and deliberate. He is ripe and ready, just as we have heretofore remarked.

SENATOR SIMMONS' POSITON

Judging from the tone of the editorials of some of the newspapers which opposed Senator Simmons for the renomination during the past several months of campaigning, several editors actually have been misled into believing that the Senator really did get out of line with his party. The campaign methods of the distinguished opponents of the Senator, have left that impression and it was just what we suspected would be the case. A glimpse at some of the editorial comments since the election would lead us to infer that some editors are under the impression that the fight which Senator Simmons was up against will serve to "call him to halt," as it were, such, for instance, as the following from the Greensboro Record, which opposed the nomination of the Senator:

"If Senator Simmons can serve his term without a good many of those who aided in his election cussin' him out, we shall be surprised. His position is a delicate one. If he stands squarely with Wilson he will offend many who supported him; if he fails he will be a goner. We have no idea he will fail, however. He will stand. Watch and see."

The above is only one of several similar expressions that have come under our notice. Senator Simmons needs no defense now, so what we say here is not aimed to set him right, for the election fully vindicated the Senator in the eyes of a large majority of the Democrats of his State. Some of the comments we have seen intimate that the election gave the Senator a scare and that it will alter his course, but nothing is so ridiculous as such an idea.

In the first place, a man who has beaten two strong candidates for the Senatorship and won the fight against the same indictment made by both, has nothing to fear at the hands of the Democracy. A man who can get about 22,000 more votes than two of the strongest men in the State, has no reason to trim on his course, but on the contrary, it would make the average man so feel his power that it would make him "set in his ways." Since the Senatorial primary was an overwhelming and clear vindication of Senator Simmons' record, it is time to let up on it out of respect for the militant majority of the party.

Our good friend of the Greensboro Record is mistaken in supposing that Senator Simmons' position is in the least "a delicate one." Of course, that has reference to the presumption of his being out of plumb with President-elect Wilson, but any such presumption can only result from failure to understand Woodrow Wilson's speeches and writings on the tariff. They show that Senator Simmons' attitude towards the tariff is precisely that of the next President. The Democratic platform adopted at Baltimore ought to be intimation enough that the President-elect is a different kind of revisionist from those who make a great noise about the free list, for it cuts so little ice with him that his platform was completely silent about placing any thing on the free list. The President-elect also declared for equilization of the tariff and that is all that was meant by the attitude of Senator Simmons towards the tariff as it was being made by a Republican Congress.

Rather than that Senator Simmons will be "a goner" if he does not "stand squarely with Wilson," we rather expect to see the Senator's opponents put to the test of standing squarely with Wilson. Our friends who have been misled about Senator Simmons will find out about April 15th that the President-elect is just about the same kind of tariff revisionist as Senator Simmons—a gradual and equitable revision that does not discriminate against any State or any industry that is not existing on privilege.

It is time for Senator Simmons' opponents to let up on him and "bide a wee," and especially does it behoove every Democrat in North Carolina to take no stock in any intimated fight to prevent Senator Simmons from becoming chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate. Any such misguided effort as that would call forth not only resentment but indignation on the part of at least 100,000 Democrats in North Carolina. It is time to let up and permit the unnecessary rancor of the recent campaign to subside. Bad feeling during the campaign was about the most useless and unjustifiable of any political incident within our recollection, from Tilden to Wilson.

DEMOCRATIC BANKING PLAN

The Democrats carried the country in time to do some historic legislating at Washington. There will be revision of the tariff and currency legislation, both in the interest of the people. That also means that it will be in the interest of the business of the country. Already, President-elect Wilson is sounding all interests concerning a new banking law, and as this matter will excite a great deal of attention in the next year or two, the following from Monday's New York Journal of Commerce will be read with interest:

"It became known in the financial district late on Saturday that Senator Thomas P. Gore has held conferences with a group of men, including some of the ablest bankers in New York, for the purpose of consulting them as to the details of a banking bill. Senator Gore went over the whole ground very fully and told the bankers that it was the wish of the Democrats to take up the banking question at the earliest possible date and to settle it in the most satisfactory manner, carefully safeguarding the rights of all concerned. The conferences of Senator Gore are considered of the highest importance in Wall Street because of the fact that he is close to President-elect Wilson and represents the administration in a direct and genuine way. Mr. Gore has also been an irreconcilliable in the the Senate, standing for the extreme Southwestern sentiment on tariff and banking questions. He was a bitter critic of the Aldrich tariff bill and of other Aldrich measures. His disposition to join the bankers in careful discussion of the new legislation is taken to indicate that the administration wants full data as to the conditions in Wall Street and is willing to take the wishes of every interest into account."

President Wilson will convince Wall Street that he wants banking laws in the interest of all the country, and not merely a money trust, as has been charged.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE

The New York Tribune now advertises itself as "New York's only Republican paper—progressive but not radical." The Tribune is a greater newspaper, and during the past campaign it stood for certain American fundamentals in a way that entitles it to the respect of people with the ideals of the founders of the Republic. It opposed third termism as a violation of those ideals, and so far as concerns the tariff it takes the protective side and strongly presents that question from a point of view about which there can be an honest difference between patriotic Americans.

Whether one agrees with the Tribune or not, there probably never has been a time in the history of the paper when its editorials were so vigorous and able. It claims to be progressive without being radical, and if The Tribune means by "progressive" that it is going to broaden up a little it can be ranked as progressive in a very large sense.

As an opposition paper The Tribune is strong, but it has seemed at times to weaken the force of its editorials by being too partisan. However, we shouldn't expect an opposition paper to be conducted in a way that would be pleasing to the other side. We can approve the Americanism of the Tribune and we appreciate the paper because of its many excellent features and its always entertaining and vigorous editorials on matters in general. We do not think any paper can dispute the fact that The Tribune is the ablest exponent of Republicanism in this country.

CURRENT COMMENT.

We have often wondered how our cotton manufacturers can hope to build up a trade in foreign parts when they cannot compete with the English spinners in their home markets.—Durham Herald.

Why is it that some people never learn that responsible newspapers do not accept unsigned communications? We are led to this query because of the unusual number of communications received by this paper in the last few days that are signed only with initials or not at all. The name of an author is not used if he objects, but it is necessary that the author of any article printed be identified. This is so general a rule and so widely understood it is surprising that so many people at this late day of enlightenment, waste pen, ink and paper by ignoring it.—Richmond Journal.

Mischievous rumors concerning a "tariff war" with Russia are again being circulated. There is no apparent foundation for such reports except the continued failure to arrange the passport question. The story is based on the assumption that without a settlement of that issue there will be little or no prospect of adjusting the trade controversy opened by the abrogation of our commercial treaty last Winter. Trade between Russia and the United States has been developing rapidly within recent years, and there is little probability that such a situation would be permitted to grow up. Much American capital is now invested in Russian enterprises, including a good deal that belongs to persons close to the new Wilson administration. There is every reason to suppose that an amicable arrangement will be effected. The fact that a new tariff bill with provision for maximum and retaliatory tariffs is shortly to be passed will possibly help in the negotiations.—New York Journal of Commerce.

THE HOUSE PROBLEM

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 18, 1912.

Editor Star: We noticed your editorial on the "House Problem" in Sunday's Star and heartily agree with you, but think one part of the same should be eliminated in this discussion, which will no doubt lead to the desired end. We refer to the part stating that it should be remembered that people have bought and built houses at a small outlay some time ago and are lucky by reason of the increased value of their invesements. You cannot base on the cost of 20 or 25 years ago. This would be unfair and incorrect. Any savings put in anything else 25 years ago would have increased more in value than in real estate. The original money loaned out at the rate of 6 per cent interest payable quarterly, or put in bank stock, lumber, timber lands, oil stocks, savings banks, etc., would have accumulated far in excess of any real estate investment. The value of money has depreciated and has not one-half the purchasing power it had then. Then eggs sold for 10 cents per dozen, meat for 6 and 7 cents per pound, labor for less than one-half and our surrounding farm lands for one dollar per acre.

Now, for the lucky part of it, I can't see where the luck comes in. If a young man deprives himself of many a pleasure he would like to have, foregoes many an enjoyment he would relish, to provide for his family, educate his children and provide for himself when he gets old, I would call this hard work and self-denial, not luck, although he ought to be thankful for having been healthy and that the Lord had enabled him to so do. But he is certainly entitled to the fruits of his labor and self-denials. Suppose he had classed with another class, spent and enjoyed all he made as quick as he made it, thereby belonging to a class that has seen better days and glorious nights, and perhaps leaving his family to take care of themselves or worse, to be cared for by the community, would he be less lucky? This house problem can be arranged and I think I know of several ways that will lead to it, but it must be done by the conditions that exist, not that have existed; by cool business methods, not by inflaming people misinformed, against a class that has patiently carried the brunt of taxation.

I do not like to make myself conspicuous, and would rather hear from other parties, but if anything I can contribute should interest you, I will do so, as this question is of importance to all of us. Wilmington is our common home. We expect to live and die here, and expect to leave our children behind and should leave the city in as good and prosperos a condition to them as we can. It is a good city. We must stand or fall by it. I am afraid I have written too much already, but if you desire any more from me and so inform me, I will comply, providing you will give space for it. Writing is work, and to use the Scripture, I would rather have my pearls cast before swine than have them hidden under the bushel of your pigeonholes or thrown in your waste basket.

Yours very truly,
S. BEHRENDS.

CUMBERLAND COURT

Heavy Docket Including Beer Cases in Fayetteville—Judge Lyon

(Fayetteville Obesrever, 18th.)

Cumberland Superior Court, for the trial of criminal cases only, convened in the Court House here today, with Judge C. C. Lyon on the bench and Solicieor N. A. Sinclair representing the State. As we have mentioned before, the docket is a heavy one, with two capital cases. The trial of the near-beer dealers, whose arrest and preliminary hearing created such a sensation last Summer, are set for this term.

The judge's charge to the grand jury was plain, and gave concisely the duty of the body in bringing true bills for violation of law. Judge Lyon is a great favorite in Cumberland, and being from Bladen, he is looked upon as one of our very own. But aside from this, his justness, coupled with firmness, his correct knowledge and interpretation of the law and his uniform courtesy, render his advent here as presiding judge a source of gratification to the bar and the litigants.

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

For flaky pie crust use
Cottolene

Lard soaked pies have caused a world of indigestion, and pies therefore have been wonderfully abused, and in some cases tabooed. When properly made with Cottolene and eaten at suitable times, pies are no more indigestible for a normal person than are many other foods which so far have escaped this criticism.

Cottolene makes light and delicate crust—rich, but not greasy—wholesome, digestible, nutritious.

There is no hog fat in Cottolene. It is a vegetable product—made from purest and choicest cotton oil. It is a product of Nature, and much more wholesome than either butter or lard.

Cottolene is an economical fat. Use one-third less than either lard or butter, and obtain better results.

NEGRO YOUTH MURDERED

Herbert Howie, Known as "Chink", Killed by James Henry, Alias "Black Boy", with "Toy" Pistol—Arrested.

Herbert Howie, a 13-year-old colored boy, known to his friends as "Chink", was shot with a "toy" pistol and almost instantly killed Sunday evening about 6 o'clock by James Henry, alias "Black Boy", about 15 years old, who, according to his own declaration, is the meanest boy in the city. The shooting occurred at Ninth and Castle streets during an altercation between the boys. The fight is said to have been provoked by Henry. A few minutes after the shooting Henry was arrested and lodged in the city prison.

Following the verdict last night of the coroner's jury that Howie came to his death as the result of a wound inflicted with a pistol by Henry, the youthful defendant was removed from the city prison to the county jail to await trial in Superior Court on a charge of murder. He was committed by Dr. Joseph Akerman, acting coroner.

The coroner's jury was composed of Mr. J. C. King, foreman; Mr. Frank Herbst, secretary, and Messrs. T. C. Rhodes, J. E. Hale, Freeman Yopp, and J. E. Taylor. The jury convened at 4 o'clock and it was about 7 o'clock before the taking of evidence was concluded and a verdict returned.

Junius Bradshaw, a 10-year-old white boy, was the first witness. He was some distance away. He heard some quarreling before the pistol shot, but did not know what was said. After the pistol shot he saw the body of a mulatto boy at Ninth and Castle streets and heard the 'Black Boy" as he was called, say while looking at the body, that he was the one who fired the shot.

The next witness was Mr. J. C. Vereen, who lives at the northwest corner of Ninth and Castle streets and who it was that arrested "Black Boy" along with James Jordan, a material witness, and held them until the arrival of the police. He said that "Black Boy" claimed that it was Ernest Evans who shot the boy. Some one of the crowd, after hearing this statement, said in "Black Boy's" presence it was "Black Boy" who did the shooting. About three feet from where the body lay the witness picked up eight cartridges, seven of 22-calibre and one 32-calibre. The wounded boy lived a few minutes after the arrival of the witness.

James Jordan, a negro youth who was arrested by Mr. Vereen along with "Black Boy", was the next witness. Jordan was taken to the City Hall, but was released early Sunday evening, as Chief Fowler was satisfied he did not have anything to do with the affair. Jordan said that he and Alex. Sampson, another negro youth, were going toward Ninth and Castle streets when they met "Black Boy" and another boy on a bicycle. The witness said that "Black Boy" called to them to get out of the way and used a bad word. Alex. Sampson asked if the word had been meant for him. "Black Boy" then got off his wheel, pulled out his pistol, and began snapping it at Sampson. Herbert Robinson, Herbert Howie and others came up about this time. "Black Boy" pointed the pistol at the crowd and then at Howie. "Black Boy" and Howie then got into a fight. "Chink" or Howie, hit "Black Boy" with a small bottle and after the bottle had dropped to the ground "Black Boy" picked it up and put it in his pocket. The bottle, containing a small quantity of some kind of fluid, was found on "Black Boy" when he was arrested. Later, the witness testified, "Black Boy" pointed the pistol at Sampson again and then walked up to "Chink" and began fighting him. A lively scrap ensued. The witness heard a pistol shot and saw "Chink" sway and fall. "Black Boy" hollered "Oh, Lordy!" The witness said that when "Black Boy" first came up and pulled the pistol out he said he was the "d—— baddest nigger in town."

Chief of Police John J. Fowler testified to visiting the scene with other officers and of his efforts to get the hospital ambulance. He tried to call the hospital over the telephone, but the operator would not connect him, saying that the line was busy. Even after he explained that it was a case of life and death she refused to "cut in" to call the hospital. Chief Fowler asked information to "cut in" explaining the circumstances, but the request was likewise refused by her. The life of the boy could not have been saved had he been gotten to the hospital when Chief Fowler called, but the telephone operators had no way of knowing that the boy was going to die anyway.

Alex. Sampson corroborated James Jordan and Herbert Robinson, who did not see the shooting, testified to what took place just before the pistol was fired, his statement tallying with the others in this regard. Mary Wortham, colored, testified that "Black Boy" told her that he shot the Howie boy.

Dr. W. D. MacMillan performed an autopsy on the body of the boy and he made his report. He found a pistol shot wound in the region of the heart, which, he said, caused death.

The jury then retired and made up its verdict, as outlined.

PLANS FOR EXTENSIONS

City Officials Will Appear Today Before Engineer of State Board of Health—Plans May Be Approved

Councilman B. C. Moore, in charge of the Department of Public Safety, and City Engineer F. F. Pillet left last night for Winston-Salem where today they will appear before Col. J. L. Ludlow, engineer of the State Board of Health, and urge his approval of the plans that have been prepared for the extension of the municipal sewerage system in the northern, eastern and southern sections of the city. The plans are practically the same as have already been approved by the board except that it is not the idea of Council to provide an interceptor at this time on account of the lack of funds.

The point with regard to the interceptor has been well set forth in a letter to Colonel Ludlow by Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, which is as follows:

"Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 17, 1912.

"Col. J. L. Ludlow, Engineer N. C. State Board of Health, Winston-Salem, N. C.

"Dear Sir: With this communication our city engineer, Mr. F. F. Pillet, will submit for your consideration his plans for the extension of our system of sewers. I have been instructed by the Council to present the reasons through which I have been led to the recommendation of these plans which do not include the immediate construction of the interceptor and disposal plant at the foot of Greenfield street.

"You are familiar with the situation here in every phase of the sewer problem. After the purchase of the plant of the Wilmington Sewerage Co., we have but $100,000 of the bond money remaining. This amount will suffice for the construction of the interceptor, or for the street extensions which are necessary, but not for both. If the interceptor is built with funds in hand we must wait a year possibly until a further issue of bonds is authorized by the Legislature and the funds obtained by the sale of these bonds become available. During this time there will be no relief from the intolerable conditions now existing as the result of soil and well water pollution from surface closets. The suspension of the sanitary closet ordinance by the Council last September practically nullified this ordinance when it was passed again in December. We have more than three thousand surface closets still in use. The accompanying map will show this clearly. If we are permitted to use the money in hand for the installation of the street extensions immediately, building these extensions in such a manner that the interceptor can be added as soon as funds can be obtained, we can give the citizens relief a full year sooner than if the interceptor were constructed first.

"Mr. Pillet's plans anticipate the abolition of the outfall into Burnt Mill Creek above the water intake, pumping the effluent from the eastern section of the city into an interceptor which will collect the effluent from the northern section, and discharging this effluent directly into the river at the foot of Harnett street, or some other street north of the A. C. L. Railroad cut. This effluent will enter the river more than half a mile below the water intake.

"From the health standpoint the question narrows down to the point as to whether the soil pollution from surface privies is more destructive to life and health than the discharge of this untreated sewage into the river. My study of the situation leads me to the definite conclusion that of the two evils the discharge of the sewage into the river is decidedly the lesser evil. During the month of October there were 54 deaths in this city. Of these, 26 were infants, 12 white and 11 colored. The high percentage of such deaths which are traceable to soil pollution obtains in Wilmington as in other Southern towns. There are more than 2,500 shallow surface wells in use. We have investigated a great number of these wells and have found but one which did not show absolute evidence of pollution. Of the first series of 86 all but one was polluted. No unpolluted well of this type has been found since. This part of the city now supplied with city water is also supplied with deep-bored wells and it is the general habit to obtain drinking water from these rather than use the city water. Since last January our water plant has been under direct supervision of a skilled chemist who supervised the water treatment. Hyperchlorite of lime is used constantly, and at no time have we had polluted water since this supervision was installed. With the continuance of this work it would seem improbable that the contemplated increase of sewage in the river would make inevitable the pollution of our city supply after filtration and treatment. Under present conditions the analysis of our raw water shows a degree of pollution very much less than that of Louisville, Cincinnati and the majority of other cities obtaining water supply from inland rivers and lakes.

"The Council is pledged to an immediate effort to furnish the interceptor. This plan is presented as the only one possible for immediate relief. I recommend this plan because I sincerely believe that its use will save human life, and advance the freeing of our soil from excrement pollution not less than two years.

"The sanitary privy, of which we have about 2,200 in use, is but an unsatisfactory makeshift at best because of the unintelligent use to which it is usually subjected. As I said before, its further use has been made difficult by the suspension of the law. The sewer is the only perfect relief and I most respectfully ask that the request of the Council be granted, and that while this plan is not in any sense ideal, that the installation of street sewers be permitted to proceed at once.

Very Sincerely,
"CHAS. T. NESBITT,
"Supt. of Health."

HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT.

William Smith, Young White Man, Bound Over on Abduction Charge.

In the Recorder's court yesterday morning William Smith, a young white man, was tried on a charge of abducting Louisa Williams, the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Bolinder Roderick. Probable cause was found and the defendant was bound over to the January term of Superior Court, being sent back to jail in default of $300 bond.

While no evidence was offered by the defense, contending that the State had failed utterly to make out probable cause, Smith, it is said, does not deny leaving Mrs. Roderick's house with the girl, but claims that he was taking her away to place her where her surroundings would be better. On the evening of the alleged abduction the girl went with the defendant to the home of a friend of her family, where she spent the night. She returned home the next morning. The attention of the police had been called to the girl's case before the abduction charge was preferred and the day before the warrant was issued for Smith they made arrangements for her to live where her environment would be such as to develop the good qualities in her.

Assistant City Attorney Geo. L. Peschau was assisted in the prosecution by Cyrus D. Hogue, Esq. L. Clayton Grant and A. J. Marshall, Esqs., appeared for the defendant.

R. Pendergrast, a white man, was tried on a charge of striking his wife while in a drunken condition. Mrs. Pendergrast testified that when sober he was a model husband, but when drunk he made things lively. The Recorder decided to suspend judgment upon condition that the defendant appear in court from time to time to show that he is staying sober.

J. Willis and V. Hill were each taxed $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Judgment was suspended in a case against Robt. McNeil, charged with operating an unlicensed dray.

Chas. Jones, colored, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a hat pin, a bracelet, two watch fobs and spool of ribbon from S. H. Kress & Co., Saturday night, and was given six months on the county roads.

Lula Williams entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing a purse from the home of Mrs. J. Spillman, containing $15 and she was given six months on the county farm.

Alonzo Boston, colored, who stole a pair of skates from the porch of a Princess street residence late Saturday afternoon, received a sentence of three months on the county roads.

Virginia Sykes paid $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs in a case against George McNeil, charged with violating the hitching ordinance. Dave Johnson, colored, who was arrested early Sunday morning for assault with deadly weapon, was released, as it was shown that he was not the Dave Johnson who is wanted. A case against James Parker, alias Leon Murphy, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed. Ernest Davis, charged with assault with deadly weapon on Jim Spencer, was found not guilty. A case against W. L. Taylor, charged with larceny, was continued until January 20th.

The attendance was very large, amounting to several hundred, 100 being present from South Carolina and adjacent territory.

"The meeting was most enthusiastic. There were speeches, music and a banquet tonight. Grand Chancellor Taylor is highly gratified. Perfect arrangements for the great gathering were engineered by Editor Baird, of the Carolina Pythian."

Judge Carter Orders 50 Extra Men Summoned for December Term.

Maj. W. N. Harriss, Clerk of Superior Court, yesterday received from Judge Frank Carter, who will preside at the December term of civil court here, beginning Monday, the 2nd, a letter asking that the Sheriff summons 50 veniremen in addition to the regular jurors for the term, and that they be notified to report in court at 9:30 A. Everitt, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, which is the first case that will be taken up. The plaintiff in this action is seeking to recover $20,000 damages for the loss of an arm, and the case will be hard-tought on both sides.

Sheriff Cowan and his deputies were busy yesterday summonsing the veniremen, as ordered by Judge Carter.

Major Harriss was notified by Judge Carter that the case of the Murchison National Bank against the Dunn Oil Mills, set peremptorily for the December term, has been continued until the special term it is proposed to hold in January.

APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF MR. J. ROSS M'NEAL.

Many friends in Wilmington will be interested to learn of the approaching marriage of Miss Margaret Evelyn Phillips, of Suffolk, Va., and Mr. J. Ross McNeal, of Burgaw. Mr. McNeal is well known in Wilmington and is popular in social circles here. He is a member of the Cape Fear Club, of this city. Miss Phillips visited Wrightsville Beach last Summer and made many friends at the resort. The following from the Suffolk correspondence of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot will be of interest here:

"At a beautiful seven-course luncheon given this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Phillips in honor of their daughter, Miss Margaret Evelyn Phillips, the engagement of Miss Phillips to James Ross McNeal was announced.

"The Phillips house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, palms and cut flowers. The dining room was lighted with pink shaded lights in crystal candelabra, with pink roses and ferns banked on the mantel and about the room.

"The table, with its exquisite cover of chuny lace, had as a centerpiece a basket filled with pink Maryland rose-buds, tied with pink satin and tulle.

"From each nosegay of pink rosebuds stretched a pink silk cord extending to each place. As the guests arose to leave at the conclusion of the luncheon the cord was pulled, the roses separating into 11 nosegays, which were added to the other favors. The place cards were hand painted in cupids and garlands.

"The bon bon boxes at each place were miniature pink satin band boxes, the lids ornamented with cupids and roses and filled with candies and nuts.

"The favors were porcelain cupids, bearing tiny white envelopes containing the announcement cards, 'Phillips-McNeal, January, 1913.'

"Miss Phillips is one of the most attractive and popular girls of the younger set. Her guests at once responded to the announcement with appropriate toasts and good wishes.

"Covers were laid for eleven, and Miss Phillips' guests were her prospective bridesmaids—Misses Therese Nurney, Ethel and Virginia Shoop, Laura and Sallie Twitty, Bessie Holland, Miss Em Jones and her house guest, Miss Rachel Borden, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Miss Elizabeth Downs, of Baltimore, who is the guest of Miss Therese Norney, and Miss Mary Wiggins, of Winston-Salem, N. C., who is visiting Misses Virginia and Ethel Shoop.

"The marriage will take place early in January and will be elaborately celebrated. Mr. McNeal is a son of Joseph G. McNeal, of Norfolk. For the past two years Mr. McNeal has been in business in North Carolina."

PRETTY FALL WEDDING SOLEMNIZED AT CLEMENT.

Autryville, N. C., Nov. 18.—Beautiful in its simplicity was the wedding on Thursday of the past week at 4 o'clock of Miss Aurelia Bertha Autry, the attractive daughter of Capt. and Mrs. J. L. Autry and Mr. Hans Sivertsen, a prominent young man of Norfolk, Va., which took place at the home of the bride at Clement, N. C. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, many cut flowers and ferns being gracefully arranged, carrying out the color scheme of white and gold.

Promptly at 4 o'clock Prof. Ralph Fisher began playing the wedding march and as the magical strains of Mendolssohn floated out they seemed to be fairly drawing the bridal party down the hall to the tastefully arranged arch, where Rev. W. J. Jones, pastor of the Salemburg Baptist church, stood waiting to pronounce in his reverent and impressive manner the words that should make the happy couple one.

The bridal party entered in the following order: Miss Lela Floy Butler, of Clinton, coming from the east parlor, was met in the spacious hall by Mr. Abram Alphonzo Autry, of Autryville, brother of the bride, coming from the west parlor, crossing in front of the arch and taking their positions; then followed Miss Elizabeth Casey Smith, of Warsaw, with Mr. James Randell Pusey, of Delmar, Del.; Miss Mary Adair Spence, of Goldsboro, with Dr. Oscar E. Underwood, or Earnest; Miss Pauline Royal, of Salemburg, with Mr. John A. Cooper, of Autryville.

The pretty bride entered leaning gracefully on the arm of her sister, Miss Julia Grace Autry, who was maid of honor, and was met at the arch by the groom and his best man, Dr. Radford Royal, of Norfolk, Va. The maid of honor and best man passed under the arch and took their positions on either side of the minister. During the ceremony, "Why So Fair", from "Martha", was softly played by Prof. Fisher. The impressive ring service was used, little Herbert Earle Autry, nephew of the bride, dressed in white hand embroidery suit, with white shoes and hose to match, as a veritable fairy of good luck and happiness, tripped in with the golden tie placed on a beautiful silver tray. His bright little face cast beams of sunshine over the entire assemblage. The bridal party left the hall to the tuneful strains of Lohengrin's.

The bride was lovely in a going-away suit of blue with hat and gloves to match. She carried an armful of beautiful bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was handsomely gowned in white Duchess satin, trimmed with real lace and white gloves and slippers, carrying a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore dainty dresses of white princess silk with sashes of gold and wearing white slippers and gloves, each carrying a cluster of yellow chrysanthemums, mixed with maiden hair ferns while the groomsmen wore the conventional black with white kid gloves.

The bride and groom accompanied by the bridal party were conveyed in automobiles to Fayetteville, where the happy young couple boarded the 10:45 train en route to Washington, D. C., and other Northern points.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of Eastern North Carolina and her charming personality has won for her a wide circle of friends here and elsewhere who wish for her all the joys and pleasures that only a wedded life knows.

Mr. Sivertsen is a native of Tunsberg, Norway, and he enjoys the respect and confidence of all who know him. He is known to be a popular lieutenant on the vessel Onondaga and a man of exemplary character and habits.

The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts attesting the friendship and high esteem in which they are held.

Mr. and Mrs. Sivertsen will be at home to their many friends at Norfolk, Va., after December 1st. Among the visitors from a distance here for the wedding were Mr. W. M. Autry and family, of Tomahawk; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sutton, of Autryville; Mr. Stacy O. Autry, of Bule's Creek Academy; Mrs. Mittie Williams and Mr. Ernest Maxwell, of Stedman; Mrs. Z. B. Spence and little daughter, Wilmer, of Goldsboro; Mr. Chas. Faircloth, of Autryville; Mr. Wiley Cooper and sister, Miss Hazel, of Earnest; Mrs. W. J. Jones, of Salemburg, and Miss Mary Williams, of Warsaw.

SEMINOLE GOES ON RAILWAY

Cutter Is Hauled Out to Have Her Bottom Scraped and Painted

The revenue cutter Seminole, stationed here, went on the marine railway on the west side of the river yesterday afternoon for the purpose of having her bottom scraped and painted. Since the railway was put in operation sometime ago a number of vessels of various kinds have been hauled out and repaired by means of the railway, but this is the first instance of its being utilized for doing work on a cutter. The Seminole is a pretty fair-sized vessel and the handling of her shows what this latest addition to local port facilities means to the shipping interests.

..Theatrical..

A distinguishing feature of the Aborn Opera Company's production of Balfe's masterpiece "The Bohemian Girl" which will be offered at the Academy tomorrow, afternoon and night, is its colossal proportions. The American stage has never before seen a production of this opera carried upon such a tremendous scale. It was the Messrs. Aborn's idea to give to American theatregoers, when they prepared this production, the greatest representation of Balfe's splendid opera ever offered, and in realizing this they have spared nothing in the way of expenditure and effort, with the result, so it is reported, that it has enjoyed a most substantial success, ever since its initial presentation last season. Of this production it is said that it is an extraordinary combination of the most popular of old English operas, rich with melodies that are known wherever music is known, beautiful choruses and alluring dances, and a great modern stage spectacle. With commendable enterprise the Messrs. Aborn have striven to improve on their last season's production, and have engaged a cast of unusual brilliancy most prominent in which is Helena Morrill, as "Arline," Nella Brown as the Gypsy Queen, Geo. Tillman as "Thaddeus," Wilmot C. Goodwin as Count Arnheim, Detmar H. Poppin as "Devilshoof," and Stephen Stott as Count Florestein."

A large and carefully drilled chorus, corps de ballet, special performers, etc., representing a company, which in size and importance, is second to none at present touring, in conjunction with a scenic dress, seldom seen outside of the great producing centres. Realism is lent to the serious of great stage pictures that have been prepared by the introduction of a cavalcade of horsemen in a thrilling dash up the mountainside, as the finale of the first act, a band of genuine Gypsies are shown making and breaking camp in a truly realistic manner, and a wonderful troupe of whirlwind acrobats, whose performance in the Fair scene is little short of marvelous. Other special features include "The Dance of the Hours," from Ponchielli's "La Gioconda" fit so naturally where they are introduced, that they serve to enhance the beauty of Balfe's score with its "Then You'll Remember Me," "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Bliss Forever Past," and other perennial melodies.

A special orchestra, to augment the regular Academy orchestra, is carried.

At the Grand.

The Grand Theatre opened the new week yesterday in a blaze of glory and if indications count for anything the present week is going to be one of the best of the Fall and Winter.

Mr. Leonard Chick, tenor at the Grand, will sing for today the most unique ragtime patter song ever sung. It is "Chicken Reel", a hit the world over. Mr. Chick used to dance with this number also, but the manager has forbidden him to do so here, according to the Grand press agent, as he is afraid the floor would cave in. So there will be no dance, but a splendid song.

In the pictures there will be four numbers, everyone a gem. Two are Vitagraphs, another is a Selig and the fourth is miscellaneous. The Vitagraphs are "The Handbag" and "Arabian Sports." The first is a story of a society lady in society life and the whole story hinges about the lost handbag.

"Arabian Sports" is a most interesting contact with the Arabian people and the film will be found both educational and interesting. The astonishing performances of these people will keep the audience on the qui vive all the time. The Selig offering is "Between Love and Law". It is the story of a game warden out West, a pretty girl and a National preserve. All's well that ends well and it is just so in this picture.

Remember that pictures at the Grand are put on always with realistic effect and the complete orchestra at all times discourses appropriate and most pleasing music.

New Week at Bijou.

Another week received a big send-off yesterday at the popular Bijou and is now rolling merrily along. The bill yesterday was one of the cleverest and all-round attractive ones ever offered, and was approved by large audiences.

Today another big bill is ready to be stylishly served and will delight the immense throngs, as usual. The solid comfort of the modern and handsome Bijou is also especially appealing to the people these days.

A great film, in which the well known juvenile actor "Buster", takes the stellar role, is on today. It is called "Buster to the Rescue" and is full of thrills. Desperadoes rob the postoffice safe in a small Western town and bind and gag the postmistress and her daughter. Buster goes to the rescue and leads the posse to the scene. It is stirring from start to finish.

"Darby and Joan" is one of those films of merriest action and awfully jolly plot. The scenes are laid abroad and the comedy revolves around intrigue and adventures. It is decidedly clever and bright.

"A Modern Atlanta" is another charming, winning film on today, and it is as sweet as the honeysuckle and as pretty as the violet. It deals first with college life and then with the quiet and prettiness of the country. It is splendid throughout.

So folks looking for rare pleasures, surrounded by every comfort, cannot afford to miss today's Bijou bill. The price of admission, of course, remains the same. It is always and ever will be but 5 cents, afternoon or night.

How clever and indefinite is the man who never gives offense.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Sunday afternoon a street car collided with a surry driven by a small colored boy at Third and Princess streets. The surry was overturned and the boy clung to the seat and was not hurt as the horse raced down Princess street. The horse broke away and the boy was released from his perilous position. The surry, which belonged to Mr. Clarence Mills, was demolished.

MR. GREEN A CANDIDATE.

Retiring County Treasurer Will Apply for Postoffice Here.

It being rumored that Mr. H. McL. Green would be an aspirant for the postmastership for this city under President Wilson's administration, he was seen by a Star representative and was asked if the rumor were true. He said it was, but did not think he would ask his friends to sign his petition yet awhile; at least, not until they knew who all are seeking the office, and they then could sign petitions wisely. However, he will give his friends a chance to sign his, in ample time, as it is a long time from now until the fourth of March.

COLDS DO NOT CAUSE CATARRH

BAD BLOOD DOES

A cold will usually aggravate the symptoms of Catarrh, just as it may increase the pains of Rheumatism. But the cold has no more to do with the real cause of the one than with the other. Bad blood is the underlying cause for Catarrh; the circulation is infected with impurities which are deposited into the mucous membranes causing inflammation and irritation, followed by excessive secretion of the nose and throat, roaring sounds in the ears, neuralgia, inflamed eyes, etc. Being a deep-seated blood trouble, Catarrh must be treated constitutionally, for it is beyond the reach of local treatment. The blood must be purified—the cause removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter and at the same time building up the system by its fine tonic effects. In other words S. S. S. cures the trouble by supplying the mucous membranes with healthy, life-giving blood instead of saturating them with catarrhal impurities. Special book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write and request same. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

K-r-i-t Value and K-r-i-t Service Mean Profit for Dealer and Owner Alike

K-r-i-t cars are a great "buy."

That statement is good in two directions. It applies to both the dealer and to the ultimate purchaser.

K-r-i-t character and the confidence the public has in K-r-i-t product, gain for the dealer a position in the trade and a prestige that no other car of this class could win for him. His standing is assured. His reputation is made.

The K-r-i-t purchaser enjoys a similar fortune. He gets full value for his money. He is not paying several profits, because all the essential parts of the K-r-i-t are made within the K-r-i-t organization, giving to dealer and buyer the profit that usually goes to the parts manufacturer in the assembled cars.

Therefore, if it's a K-r-i-t the World has come to understand that it is the biggest $900 worth this automobile era has ever known.

The prime factors in this situation are K-r-i-t Character, K-r-i-t Quality and K-r-i-t Success. They build up the dealer's reputation and give confidence to the buyer.

A dealer must be identified with cars of character, else his career is limited. If he expects to stay in business, he must sell cars next year as well as this.

That is why he finds the K-r-i-t his best investment. It gives permanence to his business and ever-increasing profits. It is, therefore, the logical car for you—the only car.

When you select the K-r-i-t you have a great and loyal organization behind you—an organization that backs up every car with a guarantee for a year. The proposition is as stable and as stanch as the car itself.

Moreover, back of the car, back of the purchaser and the dealer, is the K-r-i-t service which thousands of satisfied car owners have tested and proved.

The K-r-i-t motor, clutch and transmission are a unit. Among the new features are a greatly improved oiling system, with a reservoir of a gallon capacity at the bottom of the crank case, and an efficient sight oil feed on the dash.

There are Prest-O-Lite tanks on all models. At the option of the purchaser we will furnish a gas generator and a No. 26 Stewart Speedometer instead of a Prest-O-Lite tank; or for $10 additional a complete electric lighting plant, including five lamps and 100-hour storage battery.

On all models the bright parts are nickel and black enamel.

Other models—"KR" Roadster $900; "KD" Delivery $900; Completely equipped, f.o.b. Detroit.

COTTON $1.50 A BALE HIGHER WILL COTTON GO HIGHER? PRICE CHANGES WERE NARROW

After Week of Persistent Liquidation Market Developed Firmer Tone On Bullish Spot Advices and Freezing Weather

New York, Nov. 18.—After the past week of more or less persistent liquidation, the cotton market developed a decidedly firmer tone today and advanced practically $1.50 a bale on bullish spot advices and freezing weather in the South. The close was very steady and at a net gain of from 22 to 31 points. The opening was firm, at an advance of 9 to 18 points on covering and bull support, inspired by firmness in Liverpool and the reports of low temperatures in the belt. Right after the call, active positions sold 22 to 23 points net higher, and while this bulge was followed by a reaction of 5 or 6 points, owing to talk of full ginning returns, prices soon firmed up again. Business was quite active and in addition to covering, there seemed to be considerable support from trade sources, while there was also an aggressive demand from some of the larger operators. On a scale up from 12 cents for March the market met considerable cotton, but the selling was not aggressive enough to make any important impression on prices, until the active months showed net gains of from 28 to 33 points. A reaction of about 10 points followed early in the last hour, but was mostly recovered and the active months closed within 2 or 3 points of the best. December led the advance during the afternoon on covering of shorts, who seemed to be influenced by the small amount of cotton arriving here for delivery on contract, and reports of a good demand for the local stock. Numerous private advices were received from the South, claiming a very firm spot situation in the Spot closed steady. Middling uplands, 12.10; do. gulf, 12.35; sales, 8,476 bales.

S. H. P. Pell & Co., Take Optimistic View of Situation—Their Information Based Upon Farm Canvass—Size of Crop.

New York, Nov. 18.—A very large percentage of the information that reaches New York regarding cotton crops comes from the larger towns and cities of the South and from people who live on asphalt streets and whose sole agricultural implement is the lawn mower, and whose idea of the "fauna and flora" of their own section is the result of a study of the cast iron deer in the front yard and a few chrysanthemums in the back yard.

In the cities where these people live, continuous quotations of contracts from the New York Exchange are posted daily, and these quotations, so these people seem to think, reflect accurately (?) the crop and trade conditions. They are perhaps unconscious of the fact that these quotations add to or subtract from their own statements in regard to the crop.

They forget that the varying character of information of their own manufacture to some extent helps make these continuous quotations (continuous.)

The residents of these "electric light towns" of the South are more willing to accept the news regarding the cotton crop from New York than the statements of their own rural friends to whom they accredit every virtue except intelligence.

To them the market position of "Smith" or "Jones" (of New York) seems vastly more important than a careful field-to-field canvass of "Jones" or "Smith" county of their own State. The money spent for telegrams giving information in regard to the crop (never seen) coming from these big towns would pay many times over a field-to-field investigation of the crop.

Conscious of these conditions early in the season we concluded to make a most earnest endeavor to arrive at an approximate idea of the crop through some other channel than an "electric light town" investigation of the fields.

We sent our Mr. Hammond, as usual, in an automobile throughout the Cotton Belt during the entire growing season, and at various times have had four other individual field-to-field examinations made by other crop experts.

In addition to those we have,from the first of last April, through our Watkins Bureau, had bi-monthly replies from 2,500 selected correspondents. Our Watkins Bureau has been separated in every way from speculative influence, and these correspondents were selected by Mr. J. L. Watkins, who for many years was statistician of the Bureau of Agriculture at Washington. These crop investigations will cost us well over $25,000 (money we now consider well spent), and since our sole object in securing this information was for the guidance of ourselves and customers we have given our activities along those lines no publicity whatever, nor do we care now to enter into the field as estimating the final crop outturn further than to state that from these investigations we do not consider it within the range of possibility for the 1912 crop to reach 14,500,000 bales.

How much smaller than this our real figures are we do not care to state, but we will state that we think a 14,500,000-bale crop will sell at a better average price than the present figures of New York contracts—12c. And to make that average we must yet see an advance quite equal to the decline had early in the season (below the 12-cent level).

We think the dry goods trade the world over is too good at the moment and committed for delivery too far into the future for the spinnable portion of a 14,500,000-bale crop to satisfy.

The halting tendency recently shown at the 12-cent level is due wholly to the willingness of the farmer of the South to accept 12 1-2 Cents In the South.

It will require but a short while for the supply from the farmer to become depleted or for the farmer himself to become unwilling to sell at 12 1-2 cents, and when that condition arrives the paradox of New York contracts at from $2 to $4 per bale under the price on the farm will become obvious to the commerical world.

Our market must and will adjust itself to the commercial value of the real article. We have ginned over 10,000,000 bales of the crop and the farmer has sold it much faster than normal. Europe, despite her high freight rates, has drawn on us for nearly as much cotton as to this same date last year. It seems a foregone conclusion that Europe will demand more than 9,000,000 bales of the growing crop, leaving for America a smaller supply than last year. If there are any surprises for the cotton trade they will be bullish in character and not bearish. Yours very truly,

S. H. P. PELL & CO.

Stock Market Was Dull In Keeping With Heavy Tone of London—Initial Dealings Showed Declines

New York, Nov. 18.—Extreme listlessness and narrow price changes marked the day's operation on the stock exchange. Initial dealings showed general declines, in keeping with the heavy tone of London, but these soon were recovered in large part. The market yielded again in the afternoon on announcement that the United States Supreme Court had adjourned for a fortnight without rendering decisions in several important cases of interest to the financial community.

Some of the equipments stocks were conspicuous for their strength, American Locomotive and New York Air Brake scoring highest prices of the year on small trading.

The day's news was of a mixed character, ranging from uncertainty abroad to cheerful business advices from the West and Southwest.

Wabash 4s were the feature of the bond department, the balance of that division being dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, were $1,450,000. United states bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today, 229,300 shares.

ATTACKS NEWSPAPER LAW.

Opening Argument Against New Statute Begun in Court.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The opening attack upon the constitutionality of the sections of the recent postal appropriation act requiring newspapers to give postal authorities access to their circulation records and to publish the names of their stockholders and bondholders as well as to label political articles as advertisements, was made today before the United States Supreme Court in a printed brief filed by Robert C. Morris and G. B. Plant, on behalf of the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, of New York. The case is set for argument orally on December 2nd.

The attorneys for the newspapers contend principally that the sections violate the constitutional liberty of the 25,000 newspapers, magazines and periodicals published throughout the United States.

Unlike public service corporations, the newspapers, the attorneys claim, possess no elements which give the government a right to regulate their business, except insofar as the public morals or public welfare is concerned.

"Absolutely no authority can be found for the contention that the provisions complained of in this act were enacted for the public benefit," declare the attorneys. "Neither the government nor the public at large can be benefitted by the knowledge of the private business affairs and the financial condition of the owner of a newspaper. On the other hand, the provisions objected to in the act are more than unreasonable in their demands upon the owner of a newspaper—they are perniciously inquisitorial. They strike down private property, in that they ruin the publication if it refuses to meet their arbitrary demands, for ruin would surely follow the denial of the privileges of the mail.

"In the act individual injury is inflicted without any corresponding benefit to society. If the corporation is doing business upon borrowed money, for which it has issued its notes or other obligations, it must publish to the world the holders of such obligations, to the annoyance of such lenders and the tendering of its credit. It must show the vulnerable spots in its financial armor to the benefit of its competitors and enemies. Banks and other large financial institutions will refuse to loan it money, for fear that they will be held out and advertised as supporting or controlling its editorial or political policy. Nor are these fanciful objections.

"To the business man they are real and alarming."

The attorneys warn lawyers, doctors and other professional men that if this act is upheld, Congress may equally require them to publish and disclose the names of their clients.

CROWD HEARS MAN'S STORY.

Boyhood Friend of Alvin E. Zollinger, Who Was Murdered, Testifies.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18. — In a crowded courtroom with hundreds of men and women struggling to hear the testimony, the story of Alvin E. Zollinger, an advertising solicitor, who was shot and killed in a city park on May 13th, was told today by Perry M. Ford, a boyhood friend and manhood confidante of the victim, to the jury which is trying Miss Cecelia Farley, a State House stenographer, for first degree murder, for the shooting.

So great was the crowd that many women had to find standing room on mantel tops and window sills.

Tomorrow Miss Farley will take the stand to attempt to convince the jury that she did not shoot the man with whom she had had intimate relations for years, but that he was accidentally shot while the two were struggling for possession of a revolver.

Ford told of how Zollinger battled with himself as between his love for Miss Farley and what he knew was right. Ford related how, at length, Zollinger prevailed upon Miss Farley, a Catholic, to go to her priest, confess her relations with him and be forgiven, and of how the priest introduced Jerome Quigley to Miss Farley, in the hope that Quigley would so interest her that she would forget Zollinger.

According to the evidence, Quigley then fell in love with the girl and she with him. Ford then told of how Zollinger became angry, and of how he determined to break off the engagement between Quigley and Miss Farley. Once, after pleading to no avail with Miss Farley to give up Quigley, Zollinger rushed into Ford's store, apparently temporarily unbalanced, and declared:

"You are liable to hear tell of three deaths before this day is over."

Ford said he searched Zollinger for a revolver, and finding none, he held the angry lover in a back room for about three hours, until he "cooled off."

Ford told of how the advertising solicitor attempted to break up the love match between Miss Farley and Quigley by telling the girl that he had a small automatic camera with which he had taken her picture in embarrassing positions during the time of their intimate relations, and that he would have them published on the first page of "every newspaper in the country," if she did not return to him. He also told her he would have the pictures printed on post cards and send them to her friends and to cigarette companies for advertisements.

MANY INJURED IN FIRE.

Overturned Lamp Sets Fire to Holiness Church in Durham.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 18.—One woman was fatally injured and a score of women and men seriously burned or bruised tonight when an overturned lamp set fire to a building in which the Holiness church, sometimes known as the "Holy Jumpers", was holding its annual convention. A panic followed. Mrs. Jud Pope, one of many who jumped from second story windows, is expected to die. Some delegates were burned as they fought their way out of the building and others were injured by falling glass and timbers.

Joseph A. Shay today took the place of John W. Hart as counsel of record for Charles Becker, the police lieutenant sentenced to death for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal. A Supreme Court justice signed the necessary order of substitution. Mr. Shay will aid in preparing Becker's appeal for a new trial.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wake Forest College, N. C., Nov. 18.—During the past week we have had some prominent visitors, among them being Dr. B. W. Spilman and Rev. H. C. Moore. The latter delivered a very able sermon in the morning service, and also in the evening service on Sunday.

Coach Thompson will put the football squad through some very strenuous practice from now until the Thanksgiving game is pulled off in Charlotte with Davidson. The local fans are very enthusiastic over the prospects of a victory for the Baptists. HANDSOME COLLEGE GIFT

Elon Receives Gift From Francis Asbury Palmer Board

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Elon College, N. C., Nov. 18.—At the regular chapel service this morning, President Harper read a letter from Mr. Martyn Summerbell, stating that the Francis Asbury Palmer Fund Board has donated to the college for the Fall term the sum of $2,000 on current expense account. This announcement was greeted with cheers by the student body.

It will be remembered that Mr. Palmer, who created this board, gave Elon large sums of money during his lifetime and added $30,000 to the permanent endowment fund by the terms of his will, which fund became available 12 years ago. His vast estate was left in the hands of a trust corporation bearing his name and it is through this board that the donation of $2,000 just received was given. Each year this board remembers Elon in a substantial way, last year giving the college $2,590.

The president also announces that the president of this board, Dr. Martyn Summerbell, and its secretary, Dr. Frank S. Child, will lecture before the college in January and February, respectively, this year.

GIBSON JURY COMPLETE.

Accused Man Overrules Attorney and Picks Five Jurors.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo, overruled his counsel, Robert H. Elder, today and chose five of the 12 jurors for his case. Mr. Elder said tonight that while he did not approve of these five jurors, he had deferred to Gibson "because he is a lawyer and after all, he is the one, not I, who will be affected by the verdict."

A jury was selected after 58 talesmen had been examined. Six of them are farmers and all are married. It is possible that the jury will be taken to Greenwood Lake tomorrow to view the scene of the alleged murder.

Gibson heartily endorsed the plan, and District Attorney Rogers said he would interpose no objection. Another move contemplated by the defense is the introduction of a foreign born witness, but his identity and story are being jealously guarded.

District Attorney Rogers expects to complete his opening address tomorrow morning.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Dr. Roth, a well known physician of Reichnell, upper Bavaria, has received a telegram from King Ferdinand, of Bulgaria, asking him to come to the army field headquarters to combat the cholera.

SOUTHPORT NEWS

Concrete Sidewalks Laid—Railroad Development—Other Items

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., Nov. 18.—The visitor to this city within a few weeks will be surprised to find broad and fine concrete walks, in place of sand or oyster shells. The change will prove most grateful to those who once trudged through the sand or felt with every step how sharp an oyster shell was even under a heavy shoe. And with this advancement, the live oaks are to be spared to continue as a distinguishing and attractive feature.

Col. H. K. White has been asked to meet with the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce this week, at the same time Senator Simmons and Congressman Small are to meet the Chamber. Col. White will speak of the meeting at Philadelphia of the waterways convention, which he attended and a matter, waterways, in which he is deeply interested and always active.

After over six months on the roads for violating the liquor law, W. A. Price, who was last week pardoned by the Governor, has returned to his home near here. Besides a numerously signed petition the pardon was recommended by Dr. Crow, of this place; Dr. Murphy, of Wilmington, and Dr. H. B. Maxwell, superintendent of health of Columbus county, Price's physical condition being bad.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given by local talent at the Olympia Theatre here last week. The programme was encored in every number and more than $40 was realized for the benefit of the Methodist church piano fund.

Mr. O. T. Green, of Thousand Island Park, New York, is here, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Gardner. They have taken a house for the Winter. Mr. Green is identified with large property interests in New York State.

The Wilmington, Brunswick & Southern Railroad keeps a construction train busy these days, with a force of 50 men. The company is putting the road-bed in the best shape possible for greater transportation business that is coming.

The fish boat Messick which left here some time ago, followed up the coast until it made a successful catch of some 225,000. The catch was so far up the coast that it was taken to the company's factory in Delaware.

One of the largest pound net hauls was made last week outside, below Carolina Beach. Two boats were filled and it was estimated that 300 barrels of fish were left in the net. Word was sent here for a boat, but Saturday it was too rough outside for the boat to make the trip. It is said that these tremendous catches work injury to the market prices, as every kind and size of fish is caught and forced on sale. When six mullets sell for one cent, it may benefit the consumer while these bunches last, but they demoralize legitimate trade. A quantity of really unmerchantable fish are put on sale when these big hauls are made.

St. George & Son here have shipped North within a few days last week some 5,000 pounds of fine fish, nearly all trout. The trout now being caught outside are larger than usual, many of them weighing six pounds. A 9-pound trout is the largest one reported.

MOURN FOR EX-GOVERNOR

Hundreds Pay Tribute to Memory of Joseph M. Terrell

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 18.—Hundreds of friends today paid their last tribute of honor to the late former Governor Joseph M. Terrell as the body lay in state at the Second Baptist Church, in this city. Mr. Terrell, who was twice Governor and once United States Senator from Georgia, died yesterday morning after a long illness resulting from a stroke of paralysis suffered in Washington while Senator.

The funeral service this afternoon was conducted by the Rev. John N. White, who for years was Mr. Terrell's pastor. The pallbearers were the four brothers of the former Governor, Dr. E. B. Terrell, W. A. Terrell, J. R. Terrell and W. H. Terrell and Hines Holt, of Columbus, and R. Spivey, of Greenville.

After the simple services at the church, which were attended by Governor J. M. Brown and the other State House officials and a crowd which taxed the capacity of the church, the body was escorted to the Terminal station by a company of the Fifth Regiment, State militia, and sent to Greenville, his former home, for interment.

In accordance with the proclamation of Governor Brown, flags on all public buildings of the State were half masted today in memory of the ex-Governor.

TAFT IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 18.—President Taft arrived in New York this afternoon at 4:20 o'clock from New Haven, where he attended a meeting of the Yale Corporation. The President motored from the Grand Central to the Pennsylvania station. His train for Washington was scheduled to leave at 5:08 o'clock.

As the New Haven train bearing the President and his party was nearing Bridgeport, Conn., it struck an unknown man. The nature of his injuries could not be learned before the train proceeded.

Saragossa, Spain, Nov. 18.—The police today arrested the anarchist Francesco San Milan, who in 1910 was charged with being implicated in a plot to kill the Spanish Minister of the Interior, Senor De La Cierva, but was not prosecuted. He is suspected of being associated with Pardinas, who shot Canalejas.
